To be or not to be: That's what is the question?

If you need to tighten the tails on the subject, you should not immediately search for a tutor and spend money, you can try another way to fill this gap in your knowledge.

Several options:

1. Ask the teacher to stay after a couple and explain once again a complex topic. During the semester, teachers are particularly responsive and will be happy to meet the student aspiring to knowledge.

Of course, time and place they will arrange themselves, based on our own workload, but here you will have to be adjusted under a busy person.

2. You can contact a similar request to the fellow students who understand the subject at least a little better than you.

Then he will need to thank it, but it will come out much cheaper than tutoring rates, and the quality of knowledge gained is sometimes no worse.

3. It does not hurt and sit down the textbooks themselves, and maybe it will be possible to sort out in the wrong topic.

In addition, it is recommended to take advantage of the invaluable help of the World Wide Web, which necessarily contains similar examples and the most diverse reference literature on incomprehensible theme and complex subject.

4. Well, the last option is to hire a tutor for an additional charge. Here, all the subtleties are negotiated with a personal conversation, but it is important for the student to understand whether this person can explain to him, and will not be spent scholarships, for example, wasted.

Today, tutoring is the cheapest pleasure, so many students prefer to think several times and find other options before agreeing to such private lessons.

When there is no other option, the session is nearing, it is not necessary to save, because the further scholarship will pay off all expenses, and the test book will not have to spoil a satisfactory assessment.

When do you need a tutor?

This is another important question that should ask yourself a lagging student. In fact, there are four situations in which without such paid services just can not do.

The situation is the first. The teacher does not understand enough explain the new topics, and at the end of the pair, the student does not understand what was discussed at all.

Attempts to apply to the teacher for explanations were also not crowned with success, since he all the time hurry and eternally busy with incomprehensible affairs.

Here, if there is a desire to learn, it is best to apply for a qualified help of a tutor, which will not only explain the missed material, but also present it in a significantly expanded and simplified form.

The situation is second. The explanations of the teacher are also available and clear, but the student still alien the studied theme.

Perhaps he simply does not fit such a manner of filing new information, so it is necessary to further search for a tutor.

By the way, the search for a competent teacher can take not one week, because it is difficult to find a professional who can simply explain seemingly obvious things.

Situation of the third. Claims for teachers in students are not observed, but there are discontent in terms of a compressed curriculum.

It happens that the student has not sufficiently acquired knowledge, and he is looking for a tutor who will ineptly enlighten it in a particular matter.

Such a need, as a rule, arises in future graduate students who sleep and see themselves with researchers and professors.

The situation is the fourth. It is possible that the student is sick or just for a long time was absent on pairs.

In this case, he had a huge gap in the knowledge, which must be filled in the shortest possible time until the session unexpectedly crept.

Who will make it better than a tutor? Of course, no one left to find a qualified specialist with moderate rates for their work.

In these situations, the student must decide whether he needs paid tutor services, or it will cost and independently mastered the material in a pair.

Much, of course, depends on financial capabilities, since it may not be any student to hire such a private teacher.

What to pay attention to when choosing a tutor?

If it is still decided to take a tutor, it is important to pay attention to the following points that will help at least save a little, while guaranteeing a specialist of your business.

1. This should be definitely a proven person who has already been involved in your friends or friends.
2. It is important to make sure of its experience and qualifications not to pay solid money to the first oncoming.
3. Find more valuable information about its lessons, because such information and real reviews are unambiguously available on numerous student forums of the native city.
4. Ask, whether he has a free trial lesson who will help you understand whether you come to each other.
5. Immediately at the first meeting, the cost of each academic hour and the duration of one classes.
6. Individually find out the terms of payment and passing classes for valid reasons.
7. Ask about the existing education and specialization.

Tutor

Such seemingly unobtrusive questions will help to figure out what kind of person, what opinion about yourself and your work, and what can help in a particular situation. Do not choose a tutor if it:

Many brags;

Picks the price;

Trying to overestimate the cost of learning;

Does not compromise;

Grudges and causes no most pleasant sensations.
